This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." Reported measures not acted on include measures reported during first session.

Committee Meetings

CATALOGING INQUIRY

Committee on Armed Services: The Hébert Subcommittee on Procurement began its public hearings today on the procurement practices and policies of the several services. Chairman Hébert stated that it was the intention of this subcommittee to "go into what appears to be mismanagement of the cataloging program which Congress directed be initiated nearly 5 years ago. Over $100,000,000 has been spent; but we are not impressed with either progress or results. We are more than curious as to why there are so many specifications for articles of common use." He also said that the study of procurement will of necessity mean the consideration of all ways and means to stop excessive spendingwhether the cause be lack of proper cataloging, failure to coordinate and standardize specifications, interservice rivalries in purchasing, overspecifying requirements overbuying or bidding against each other—all which are clearly in evidence.

Testifying before the group was Deputy Secretary of Defense William C. Foster, who reported on the progress that is being made on the Federal catalog program. He believed much of the alleged charges of waste and inefficiency in the Defense Department are unjustified; that much of it is irresponsible criticism based on rumor and exaggeration. He stated that the Defense Department is opposed to the enactment of H. R. 1033, the National Defense Catalog Act. The Department at this time, he said, believes that present legislation is adequate and that the proposed bill does not provide it with any authority it does not already possess. Moreover, he added, the bill contains provisions for internal reorganization of a Defense Department agency, which is a responsibility that we believe belongs to the Secretary of Defense. Adjourned until tomorrow when it will hear Rear Adm. M. L. Ring, Vice Chairman for Supply Management (Acting), Munitions Board.

INTRASTATE FAIR TRADE

Zickerman, chairman, executive board, Retail Jewelers Association of Greater New York, and member of the steering committee on fair trade, American National Retail Iewelers Association, New York: Herman Waller, legal counsel, National Association of Retail Druggists, Chicago, Ill.; Dr. Robert L. Swain, editor, Drug Topics, New York; Godfrey M. Lebhar, editor in chief of Chain Store Age, New York; and Robert Hardt, executive vice president, Hoffman La Roche, Inc., Nutley, N. J. REORGANIZATION—DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments: Subcommittee on Reorganization held hearings on S. 1140, to create a Department of Health, and heard testimony from Oscar R. Ewing, Administrator, FSA, who stated that he was "concerned primarily with the provisions of the bill which would transfer from the FSA the Public Health Service and the programs it administers in the field of preventive medicine and medical research"; that he favors the bill "insofar as it would confer departmental status upon these problems of the Public Health Service, but strongly opposed the severance of these functions from other closely related activities which the Federal Government undertakes in behalf of the health, education, security, and welfare of all the people * * *." He suggested the elevation of the FSA, with all its functions, to the status of an executive department as the soundest way to achieve departmental status for the health functions of the Public Health Service.

Rear Adm. C. J. Brown, Deputy Surgeon General, Navy, representing the Defense Department, testified in opposition to the bill, stating that the Department of Defense believes that the transfer of military hospitals to a Department of Health would seriously impair the military effectiveness of the Armed Forces.

Also opposing the bill was Guy H. Birdsall, Assistant Administrator for Legislation, VA, who stated that the proposed plan, insofar as it affects veterans, will not work without detriment to the efficient administration of veterans' benefits.

*These figures on measures reported include all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 166 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 231 has been filed in the House.

This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." Reported measures not acted on include measures reported during first session.

Pages 1825-1828

Universal Military Training: By a vote of 236 yeas to 162 nays, the House voted to recommit H. R. 5904, the universal military training and service bill. Earlier, a motion offered by Mr. Bates of Massachusetts to strike the enacting clause and thus kill the bill was rejected by a teller vote of 167 yeas to 197 nays.

While in the Committee of the Whole, amendments were adopted that set a termination date of the universal military training program of July 1, 1958, and prohibits the initiation of the UMT program until all inductions for military service cease and prohibits the dual operation of the universal military training program and the selective service.

Subsequently, the text of H. R. 6860 replaced the language of the committee-approved bill when Mr. Brownson offered it as an amendment to the language which Mr. Burleson had offered as a substitute amendment for H. R. 5904, when both amendments prevailed in the Committee of the Whole. This action killed the amendments fixing the starting time and the termination date of the UMT program. The adoption of the Burleson amendment was later reversed in the House by a roll-call vote of 156 yeas to 235 nays, and in effect revived H. R. 5904, as introduced, which was then recommitted.

Private Bills: H. R. 2858, 2212, and 3219, all private bills, were cleared for the White House by House concurrence in Senate amendments thereto.

The House disagreed to Senate amendments to H. R. 4645, a private bill; requested a conference with the Senate; and appointed as conferees Representatives Lane, Fine, and Miller of N. Y.

Donald W. Nyrop, Chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, presented the views of the CAB on the various legislative proposals, and stated that that agency continues to support wholeheartedly the legislative separation of compensatory mail pay from subsidy and recommends that this Congress pass appropriate legislation. The CAB has made substantial progress in its program for the administrative separation of subsidy from mail pay during the last 9 months; however, it considers that legislation on this subject is vital for two reasons: (1) Separation of subsidy will have a significant effect upon the Nation's air carriers and air transportation system and therefore should have legislative sanction and direction from the Congress; and (2) it will be necessary to readjust the present statutory relationship between the Post Office and the CAB in relation to mail pay and subsidy, defining specifically the areas within which each agency is to operate. This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." Reported measures not acted on include measures reported during first ression.

FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE

Committee on Agriculture: Robert Montgomery, radio-TV commentator, was questioned today regarding his criticism of the foot-and-mouth-disease program in Mexico mentioned in a series of broadcasts about a month ago. During these broadcasts he questioned the existence of foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico, and the necessity for the eradication program or the quarantine designed to prevent diseased animals from entering the United States.

Mr. Montgomery denied he ever made accusations that there was a waste of public funds in the disease program, but stated that he was repeating questions that had been asked of him by broadcast listeners. He also denied that his questions were intended to impugn the motives of Federal officials.

In order to get a cross section of opinion regarding the existence of foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico, the committee had contacted State veterinarian officials and leading exponents of the subject in veterinary colleges. Eleven replies were received, all of which stated that at no time has there been any question in the minds of the writer relative to existence of the disease in Mexico that the claims to the contrary were without basis.

Committee adjourned until after the Easter recess.

Silberstein refused to answer all pertinent questions on the constitutional grounds that he did not have to testify against himself. He also objected to the committee's cross-examination contending that it had no legal right to inquire into his political beliefs or associations. Committee adjourned until after the Easter recess.

S., and for those abroad. He stated that the economic recommendations of the board were within its stabilization policies, and that the steelworkers, if the companies agreed to the increases, would only catch up to employees in other major industries, and in many cases would fall short of that mark. Mr. Feinsinger further stated that former ODM Director Charles Wilson had been kept informed on developments in the steel case at all times.

*These figures on measures reported include all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 431 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 611 has been filed in the House.

**This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." Reported measures not acted on include measures reported during first session.

*These figures on measures reported include all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 563 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 782 has been filed in the House.

**This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." Reported measures not acted on include measures reported during first session.

The code, which contains the association's standards of practice for the broadcasting industry, reported improvements following the first 3 months it was in effect. While these improvements were mainly noted in wearing apparel, Mr. Gathings stated that a TV study of 2,000 school children in Los Angeles County presented alarming figures as to the effects of TV entertainment on children, and also cited Thursday evenings wherein crime programs monopolize virtually all outlets. He concluded by saying that the only recourse that the public has, outside of the enactment of some form of a censorship law, is the authority given the Federal Communications Commission to grant licenses and renewal of licenses * * and should any key radio or television broadcasting station persist in airing great volumes of programs devoted to the portrayals of crime, interested groups could appear before the Commission and ask that the particular station or channel be suspended or that the license not be renewed.

Third Supplemental Appropriation: Adopted, by voice vote, the conference report on H. R. 6947, the third supplemental appropriation bill for 1952, after rejecting a recommital motion which provided for House insistence on disagreement to Senate amendment No. 16. Korean GI's: By a roll-call vote of 361 yeas to 1 nay the House suspended the rules and passed H. R. 7656, authorizing educational and training allowances for Korean veterans. In addition to education and training benefits, the bill provides home, farm, and business loan credit assistance, old-age and survivors' insurance credits, mustering-out payments, and employment assistance to veterans of the Korean conflict comparable to benefits granted to veterans of World War II.

Cotton Parity Standard: By a division vote of 156 yeas to 62 nays the House passed H. R. 5713, to amend the Agricultural Act of 1949 to provide that Low Middling seven-eighth-inch cotton shall be the standard grade for the purposes of determining parity and price support for the 1952 cotton crop.

This bill is designed to protect cotton farmers against a disastrous price decline if they produce a crop of 16 million bales or more in 1052.

H. Res. 658, the rule making in order H. R. 5713, was previously adopted. Peges 6643-6655

CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

Select Committee on Small Business: Chairman Patman announced issuance of a committee report on the Problems of Small Business under the Controlled Materials Plan—A Summary Report. The report, approved unanimously by the full committee, is based upon an investigation and hearings by Subcommittee No. 3 (Representative Burton, chairman), as part of its continuing study of the production and distribution of the materials controlled by CMP (steel, aluminum, and copper). It recommended indefinite continuation of controls on the three CMP materials (steel, aluminum, and copper).

The committee sounded a note of warning in the current rush toward abandonment of control of materials under CMP and called for a reasoned approach not based on personal wishes but on "the hard facts of the prevailing military and economic situation." The report flatly states that the committee has "no affection for the type of industrial regimentation inherent in CMP. It believes that controlled materials should be returned to a free market at the earliest possible moment." It is stated that "small business is the first to suffer when materials become scarce and would be the first victim of premature or haphazard lifting of controls on steel, aluminum, or copper."

DEFENSE PRODUCTION

Conferees on S. 2594, amending and extending the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and the Housing and Rent Act of 1947, as amended, after a night session, concluded work on the differences between the Senate- and House-passed versions, and agreed to file a conference report. The major agreements of the conferees are as follows:

Conferees effected compromises, as follows:

(1) with respect to the termination of the various titles of the bill, the House and Senate conferees agreed to extend the life of titles IV and V and the rent-control provisions through April 30, 1953, and to extend the other titles through June 30, 1953;

(2) to completely remove authority in the act for credit controls on consumer goods (regulation W) but to remove credit controls on housing (regulation X) if the rate of housing starts falls below 1,200,000 per annum to be calculated on a 3-month period;

(3) on the Wolcott Emergency Court of Appeals amendment, so as to make it workable and satisfactory;

(4) that the OPS be required to demonstrate the validity of its regulations by "substantial" evidence instead of the requirement of a "preponderance" of the evidence;

(5) with respect to the provision in the Wolcott amendment permitting a temporary restraining order, it was the committee's view and intent that the change in the present law should not prevent the Emergency Court of Appeals from granting a stay in its discretion; and

(6) to accept an amendment to the Talle food-processing amendment, which would have the effect of making perfectly clear that all food processors are entitled to the Capehart amendment and that all distributors of processed foods are entitled to the provisions of the Herlong Act.

The House conferees receded:

(1) from its so-called Talle decontrol amendment, and accepted the Senate provisions on suspension of controls:

(2) from its so-called Cole amendment to the Herlong amendment which would have applied the historical mark-up to an individual seller rather than to all sellers, as the present act provides;

(3) from its so-called Ayers amendment which would have changed the definition by which a critical defense area is certified as critical;

(4) accepting Senate provisions for a tripartite board

- (5) from its so-called Ramsey amendment which would have severely limited imports of products made from materials under allocation in the United States; and
- (6) from the Wolcott amendment to section 701 (c) of the act which would have changed the present interpretation of the Executive Department as to the meaning of "current competitive position" of established business.

The Senate conferees receded:

- (1) on provision relating to imports of fats and oils (section 104) with an amendment which permits the Secretary of Agriculture to allow imports of a commodity in an amount 15 percent over the quotas fixed for the commodity, where necessary so as not to affect adversely international relationships and trade (conferees emphasized that these restrictions are not intended to apply to commodities not competitive with domestic products);
- (2) on the so-called Wheeler amendment which provides that rent control shall not be continued in non-critical defense areas unless affirmative action is taken by the local governments involved prior to September 30, 1952;

(3) on the so-called Harrison amendment which exempts processed fruits and vegetables from price control;

(4) on a House provision which would permit the suspension of the reporting of materials and services selling below ceiling prices;

(5) on the House language (Lucas amendment) which restricts jurisdiction of the Wage Stabilization Board to wage matters, and does not permit WSB action on labor dispute questions; and

(6) on both the Ferguson and Fulbright amendments, and accepted an amendment to the Sadlak amendment (denying authority to limit the domestic consumption of any material in order to restrict total U. S. consumption to an amount fixed by the International Materials Conference after meeting requirements of national defense, stockpiling, and military assistance to foreign nations), which the House had adopted.

APPROPRIATIONS-STATE, JUSTICE, COMMERCE

RESERVE COMPONENTS

Conferees on H. R. 5426, relating to reserve components of the Armed Forces, in executive session, agreed to file a conference report on the differences between the House- and Senate-passed versions of the bill. The conferees accepted the Senate version of the bill with respect to the appointment of officers in the reserve components, and extension of enlistment or obligated period of service. As to the establishment and status of a Ready Reserve and Standby Reserve, the conferees agreed (1) that the size of the Ready Reserve is limited to an aggregate of 1 million, (2) that the Ready Reserve can be activated during an emergency declared by the President, but only in such numbers as specifically authorized by the Congress, (3) the Standby Reserve can be activated only in time of war or national emergency declared by the Congress, and (4) except in time of war or when specifically authorized by Congress, units and members of the Standby Reserve cannot be activated unless the Secretary of Defense determines that qualified units or individuals of the Ready Reserve are not available.

With regard to Korean veterans, the compromise agreement expresses the intent of Congress that such veterans should not be called so long as there are available in appropriate numbers sufficient reservists who have lesser sacrifices and suffered lesser hardship.

These figures on measures reported include all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 933 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 1,141 has been filed in the House.

**This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." Reported measures not acted on include measures reported during first session.

These figures on measures reported include all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. During the first session, 1,057 reports were filed in the Senate and 1,227 were filed in the House. During the second session, 1,064 reports were filed in the Senate and 1,272 in the House.

*This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed."

These data include bills on calendar and in conference at the end of the first session.

Subsequent to adjournment 20 additional special reports were filed by House committees, making this figure 70 and the total of reports filed in the House 1,292.

INDEX

This index is keyed to the DIGEST as published with the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD; the page references below are listed accordingly, as D5, D6, etc.

The bill numbers of proposed legislation are affixed to the subject references so that the subject matter of each measure will be readily available. The breakdown under each subject divides the action on the proposals according to: communications from the President, hearings or actions by House or Senate committee or joint or conference committee, consideration or action by House or Senate Chamber on the measures, and the public law number when the bill or resolution has been enacted.

The use of an index so devised serves a twofold purpose: gives all references to such legislation in the DIGEST as well as accounts for the status and history of each bill or resolution.
